"I have been to heaps of conferences over the years – this was by far and away the best one I have ever attended. In terms of speakers, my personal learning and venue, it was exceptional."

HASANZ CONFERENCE 2018 delegate

HASANZ CONFERENCE 2021 is a conference with substance. It's about "sharing know how and growing how to". You will leave with a wealth of knowledge, tips and tools you can put into practice to make New Zealand's workplaces healthier and safer. HASANZ CONFERENCE 2021 is the flagship conference for workplace health and safety professionals in New Zealand. It also has wide appeal to business health and safety leaders, sector influencers, educators and government decision makers.

Registration includes:

- Welcome function in Parliament's Banquet Hall hosted by the Minister for Workplace Relations and Safety, the Hon Michael Wood
- Two days of learning from six inspiring keynote speakers
- A choice of 18 concurrent presentations
- Best poster competition with $1500 (plus GST) prize.

A harbourside dinner and dance on Thursday 2 September is an optional extra.

HASANZ CONFERENCE 2021
1-3 SEPTEMBER, TE PAPA, WELLINGTON

Keynote speakers

Ron Gantt USA

Director of Innovation & Operations, Reflect Consulting Group
Safety through learning – Safety II in practice

Ron has a global reputation for making the concept of Safety II work in practice. He will discuss how businesses can tap into the adaptive, problem solving capabilities of their people to achieve this. Ron will share a framework for assessing an organisation's ability to learn, and create innovation from that learning.

Assoc. Professor Jodi Oakman Australia

Head of the Centre for Ergonomics and Human Factors, La Trobe University, Melbourne

The influence of work on health

Jodi's address focuses on the biggest occupational health issue that most organisations face - musculoskeletal disorders (MSD). Jodi will highlight how management of MSD needs to consider both psychosocial and physical aspects of the work environment.

Dr Lucy Hone NZ

Adjunct Senior Professor, University of Canterbury, and Co-director of the New Zealand Institute of Wellbeing & Resilience

The three secrets of resilient people

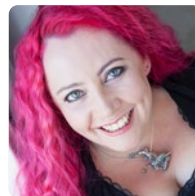

Lucy brings her personal story from Ted Talks to you, sharing her experience on how to promote resilience in ourselves and others. She will draw on scientific findings to demystify resilience and provide practical strategies to help you navigate these tough times.

Assoc. Professor Siouxsie Wiles NZ

Science communicator and microbiologist, University of Auckland

Covid communications: from university professor to pink-haired science lady

Siouxsie is an expert at communicating complex subjects in simple ways. She has won acclaim for helping New Zealand's COVID-19 response by increasing people's understanding of the virus and how we can help stop it spread. Plug into Siouxsie's positive style and learn tips on making health and safety messages stick.

Sarah Williamson NZ

Chief Executive, Antarctica New Zealand

Health and safety on the ice

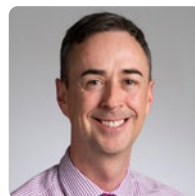

Sarah takes health and safety to extremes! At Scott Base, Antarctica New Zealand's team works at the limit of human existence. Sarah will talk about the formal systems and cultural expectations used to minimise risks and operate safely and successfully on the ice.

Phil Parkes NZ

Chief Executive, WorkSafe New Zealand

The latest word from WorkSafe

Phil will update you on the current issues being addressed by New Zealand's workplace health and safety regulator at the time of the conference.

We look forward to seeing you!
