

BUILDING HASANZ- OUR FIRST YEAR “PLAN ON A PAGE”

Our focus

To increase the professionalism of workplace health and safety practice in New Zealand

Our unique role

The national umbrella organisation for workplace health and safety professions

What we are working on	Focus of activity	With the ultimate result
Building the organisation to be sustainable long term Building professionalism of the workplace health and safety sector Building business confidence in the competence of health and safety professions Building HASANZ reputation with government as an expert advisor	Developing a business plan for HASANZ, ensuring we are clear about ongoing resourcing. Learning how to be a leadership team, ensuring the culture of HASANZ is collaborative. Building our capability. Determining criteria for membership of HASANZ and processing requests to join. Developing a register for competent health and safety professionals. Engaging with educational institutions to ensure appropriate training is developed. Taking opportunities to talk with business, speaking at conferences and meeting to explore our role and how to operate effectively for business, developing advice to business on how to access good health and safety advice and services. Providing excellent, comprehensive advice to government, as required, to help ensure the development of effective workplace health and safety policy.	HASANZ has financial stability and is seen as a leader for and with the sector. H&S Associations want to be in HASANZ Health and safety professionals seek to be on the register, business is aware of it and uses it to obtain excellent advisors. Graduates want to join the professions because of its status and quality. Businesses go to HASANZ members for advice, they actively use the register, they trust the quality of health and safety advisors. Government considers the advice of HASANZ to be of very high quality and seeks it out.

Supported by	A communications and stakeholder engagement strategy, meeting key stakeholders, attending fora, articles in magazines, engagement with business etc.
Enhanced by	Our values and behaviours, being collaborative, respectful of all health and safety professionals, professional, competent, committed to excellence
Progress review	We will regularly review our progress and our impact, and change and adapt as needed.